Electronic Business Banking Options

information SECURITY

Midland National Bank has teamed up with Fiserv-ITI to provide you with the highest standards of electronic banking security. Yet despite the implementation of robust security measures, effective electronic banking security begins with you.

Please observe these few simple steps to help keep your information secure.

- Keep all login and password information in a secure location
- Change passwords frequently and make them as long and as complex as the system will allow. (Complex passwords include lower case, upper case, numbers and special characters.)
- Assign restrictive permissions to your users. Do not give your users permissions beyond those needed to complete their assigned duties.
- Remove users immediately upon termination.
- Keep your computer's virus protection up-to-date and apply critical operating system security updates and patches as they become available.
- Do not allow internet browsing or e-mail on the computer from which you conduct your business online banking.
- Monitor your accounts closely. Contact Midland with any questions or concerns about your accounts.

ONLINE BANKING AND CASH MANAGEMENT

Business Online Banking

Cash Management is a powerful, yet flexible, business tool designed to decrease costs by reducing paper handling and by streamlining routine financial transactions, leaving you with more time to successfully drive your business.

Instead of waiting for month-end statements or spending valuable time researching and compiling information for balancing and reporting purposes, critical banking information is merely a few keystrokes away — any time day or night.

Even download your account history directly into Quicken™ or QuickBooks™ making account reconciliation and budgeting much easier!
